A: If anyone is interested i have found this solution. Windows 7: i found that "lpcreset" dont work with HP printers, so i install "clean printer" (you have to uninstall it and then install it again) and in the properties of my printer, clicked on Printers and Faxes > Maintenance > Troubleshooting >... In the "Reset" tab, tick "Make and model information available to the recovery options: then, at bottom, click on "Check Now". and after a couple of seconds, i clicked on "Reset Printer... HP... Corel Office... Office Products... Windows... and welcome my printer wasnt recognized. now it works like a charm. i hope it works for others. Mac sudo software update i think that it is the same thing, the software update found some other program and i clicked reset the printer same as above, i checked "Make and model information available to the recovery options: and then i added the printers after ticking "Make and model information available to the recovery options: and welcome my printer wasnt recognized. now it works like a charm. i hope it works for others. from my experience it worked for all. sadly i had to delete my printer not to find any result, but with the software found the new one and all worked without problems NO. 07-01-0362-CR IN THE COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE SEVENTH DISTRICT OF TEXAS AT AMARILLO PANEL A SEPTEMBER 28, 2002 _____ CLYDE LEE SHEPHERD, APPELLANT V. Autogamy in maize is initiated from the anthers, which have already completed meiosis, when they are just about to release the pollen. The present study examines the effects of ethylene on anther indehiscence in maize and attempts to associate this response with the time of pollen release. Mature anthers were treated with 50 ppm ethylene for 4 h or for 24 h and then allowed to dehisce. Dehiscence of the anthers, which were treated for 4 h, took place after just over 21 h; the shorter treatment resulted in dehiscence after about 10 h. Dehiscence was also observed in the control anthers treated for 24 h. Dehiscence of the short-term treated anthers was accompanied by an increase in the rate of tapetum development. When dehiscence occurred, the tapetal cells did not begin to show collapse, as seen in 3e33713323
